Large trolleys cannot be entered into the passenger cabin. Transit or boarding in Dubai Items exceeding the above limits may not be eligible for in-flight flights departing from Dubai. The check-in receipt will be issued for luggage that will travel in the hold of the aircraft. If you exceed your carry-on baggage allowance, you will be charged for excess baggage. Powders in hand luggage On flights departing, arriving or causing flights to the United States, as well as on flights departing from or stopping in Australia and New York, powdered substances in containers with a capacity of 350 ml or more are not allowed in hand luggage or any other bag in the cabin. Powders in containers with a capacity of 350 ml or more should be powdered substances in containers of 350ml or more, carried in hand luggage, will be confiscated at Dubai International Airport (DBX), Milan Malpensa Airport (MXP) and Athens International Airport (ATH). Powders in containers less than 350 ml may be subject to additional control. Children's food, prescription drugs and human remains are excluded from this restriction. Powdered substances purchased duty-free at the airport must be transported in transparent, sealed bags along with proof of purchase (receipt). These rules will be applied in accordance with the new safety guidelines of the U.S. Transportation Security Administration (TSA), the Australian Government's Department of the Interior and the Civil Aviation Authority of New York. Liquids, cans and gels in hand luggage In accordance with the rules, reported by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), the following restrictions apply to liquids allowed in hand luggage (liquids, spray cans and gels) for passengers to sit or pass through some international airports, including Dubai: liquids, gels and spray cans, toothpastes, lotions, creams, drinks and any other items of similar consistency must be carried in containers. Containers with a capacity of more than 100 ml are not accepted, even if the container is partially filled. Such containers should be placed in airtight transparent plastic bags with a maximum capacity of one liter. Large or unprintable bags are not allowed, for example, for products with folding closures; Containers should penetrate the transparent plastic bag, which should be completely closed; These plastic bags should be submitted for safety checks for on-site inspection. Each passenger can carry only one transparent plastic bag. Appropriate means of verifying these articles should be provided to monitor staff. In order to facilitate security checks and avoid obscure images, plastic bags must be placed on a conveyor belt separately from the rest of hand luggage, coats, jackets and laptops for X-ray examination. Passengers travelling in transit countries, following these rules, may be prohibited from carrying any liquid purchased for duty-free trade after checking the transit site. We also inform passengers at Bangkok/Singapore/Kuala Lumpur transit/exchange airports it is necessary to get off the plane on board again that during transit all liquids will be removed, in accordance with the new and stricter LAGS rules in force at these airports. Bags with sealed security closures are not allowed outside of the security check of liquid and gel in any quantities purchased at airport outlets (e.g. Dubai Duty Free) or on board the aircraft if they are transported in sealed lock safety bags (STEBs); measures have been taken to prevent any illegal fraud within the security processes of supply chains (as planned in Dubai). These bags, which have not yet been standardized internationally, should be used by all passengers who purchase liquids and gels at duty free or other airport outlets and who are transiting to a later destination. Once sealed, these bags cannot be opened and closed without any obvious signs of their opening left.
